

07/9/11752

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

SA A female receptor for locking a male plug and having a actuator element accessible from an exterior position. The actuator element comprises ^{an} ~~a~~ elongated shaft having an area of reduced width to permit disengaging movement of internal balls mounted in the receptor body. The balls retain the prongs of the male plug in place when the area of reduced width of the rod is not aligned with the balls. EA